ANNUAL REPORT

TO THE CONTRIBUTORS TO THE PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL.

The Pennsylvania Hospital "piously founded for the relief of the sick and miserable," has, under the blessing of the God of mercies, completed another year of useful application of your benefactions.

We now present to you a general statement of the expenses of the Hospital for the Sick, on Pine Street, as follows:—

EXPENDITURES.

Expenditure by Steward of cash received from Treasurer	$49,386 82
Expenditure by Steward of cash collected by him from board of patients, and other sources	10,612 90
Total expenses of Hospital for the Sick, excluding any estimate of value of buildings and grounds	$59,999 72

RECEIPTS.

Received income from investments	$35,517 67
Received from contributions for expenses	3,610 00
Collected by Steward	10,612 90
Total	$49,740 57
Deficiency, or excess of expenses beyond the income received from Endowment Fund, and Contributions	$10,259 15

The medical and surgical work within the wards of the Hospital for the Sick, is set forth as follows:—

Total number of cases during year	2155
New patients admitted	2004
Number of patients discharged, cured, or benefited by treatment	2004
Number of recent accidents brought to Hospital, all of which were treated without charge	820

Number of free patients in addition to cases of recent accidents, occupying beds in the Hospital for the Sick	743
Out-patient Department, total number of patients	1555
The number receiving surgical aid was . . .	1230
The number receiving medical aid was . . .	325

During the past year seven physicians, four of whom are surgeons, have been selected to take charge of the out-patient department, one physician and surgeon being daily on duty to afford aid in both branches of the department, and two rooms near the gateway on Eighth Street, have been assigned to their use.

This is not a new feature in the system of this Hospital, but it has recently been arranged with a more convenient method of transacting its business than hitherto, with the view of relieving the wards of the Hospital and Sick beds of those convalescent patients who could equally well be treated by occasionally presenting themselves at the out-patient department. It was not intended to increase the dispensary work of the Hospital by rendering gratuitous aid to the public, but to prevent the means available for relief of recent accidents being improperly limited.

An apartment on the ground floor of the north wing has been appropriated for the reception of new patients, and especially those from recent accidents. Upon arrival at the Hospital they are taken immediately to this room, the entrance to which is upon the street-way within the Hospital gate; the injuries are examined, wounds are dressed, and, after suitable preparation, they are removed to the proper wards.

By this arrangement the inmates of the Hospital are not disturbed in the night by the introduction of new patients. Much painful work in their presence is avoided, and the general tranquillity and cleanliness of the wards greatly promoted.

The clinical teaching of the Hospital—avoiding all mixed instruction—continues to be made free to all students of incorporated institutions, recommended by the lecturers.

During the past year the whole number of students was	441
The number of men students was	378
The number of women students was	63

In the experience of the Board of Managers no untoward consequences have attended the admission of women to the lectures, and this agrees with the reported experience of foreign schools. It has been stated in the public prints that the Faculty of the University of Zurich has announced that, after six years' experience, they look forward with satisfaction to a further continuance of the trial of admitting women to medical studies.

The renewal of the foot pavement on Spruce Street between Eighth and Ninth Streets, with North River flag-stone, and resetting the curb-stone, was part of the condition of a lease to the Historical Society of the building constructed for West's painting of Christ Healing the Sick. At the same time the privilege was given to the Society of opening the wall on Spruce Street, and of making it conform in character to that on Pine Street, thus aiding the wish to have the neighborhood improved by throwing open to the public whatever might be pleasing to the eye in the verdant growth or floral beauty of the cultivated inclosure.

The removal of the small trees now on the line of the curb-stone on the south side of Spruce Street, the construction of a substantial flag-stone pavement, with the substitution of an open iron rail for the brick wall, would give all required accommodation to pedestrians, protect the grounds, save the city from the unnecessary expense of large damages, and attain all the reasonable objects of neighbors anxious to advance the value of their property by judicious meliorations; the privilege thus given has not been availed of by the Historical Society, and their attention has been called to the conditions of their lease not yet complied with.

The Pathological Museum has been revised by its Curator during the past year, and is now reported in excellent order; 91 new specimens, carefully mounted and described, have been added to the collection.

By an exchange of duplicate pamphlets with the Surgeon-General's Office, U. S. A., an addition has been made to the library of a valuable set of photo-micrographs of diseased tissues, and cases of surgical experience.

Since our last Report, the following donations and bequests to current expenses and Endowment Funds have been announced:—

The original act establishing the Hospital contemplates not only the relief of the sick and poor, but also those who languish under disorders of the mind; all these were to be collected into one institution, properly disposed under the care of skilful physicians and surgeons.

The removal of the Department for the Insane to another locality has relieved the Pine Street Hospital of the charge of this class of patients, and for this reason alone, it has been customary to treat the Hospital for the sick and wounded separately, and apart from the other.

The gratuitous care of these patients, under the example set by the first staff of physicians in 1750, has been emulated by the most distinguished medical and surgical practitioners of our city for nearly a century and a quarter; and with their aid, and the benefactions of our citizens, the Institution continues to give a striking contradiction to fears originally expressed, that feelings of humanity and religious duty in this community would not be equal to the self-imposed task of restoring the afflicted to the blessings of health.

At the beginning of the year now passed, the prosperity of the corporation was threatened by the expiration of an agreement to supply aid for current expenses, which for many years have exceeded the revenues of the Hospital.

The deficiency for the past year is very great, and requires that we should yet again appeal to your sympathy to diminish it by timely aid. As regards our Endowment Fund—the interest of which is alone applicable to current expenses—it has been pleasing to Providence to place it in the hearts of men voluntarily to increase it by amounts rarely equalled in any year of our existence.

Funds are yet needed for the renovation of the Hospital; the restoration of ceilings and plastering in surgical wards is considered important, after twenty or thirty years. Improvements in ventilation, with an efficient system of heating in the winter time; means for an improved extra diet, and additional careful attendance upon delicate patients, are necessities, the acquirement of which is desirable for the reputation of your Hospital for the Sick. Among the improvements attempted during the year, we are able to report the apothecary's shop as thoroughly remodelled, and equal to the wants of the Institution.

The Annual Report of the Physician-in-Chief and Superintendent of the Department for the Insane is so full in its details, that it leaves little for us to submit to you beyond a summary of its contents.

The number of patients admitted in both branches
was	325
The number discharged	302
The number of free patients	45
The number of patients under treatment during the year	597
The average number throughout the year	404

The amount expended in cash upon free patients, in addition to the value of the liberty of the buildings and grounds, was over $21,000.

The maintenance of the patients is represented by an average cash expenditure of a little under $10 for each patient per week.

In our last Report it was shown how the Hospital for the Insane, by its removal to West Philadelphia, not only enlarged its own capacity, but also increased the ability of the Pine Street Hospital to provide apartments for its inmates. The Hospital for the Insane has also drawn but little upon the Endowment Fund for its support. The Report of the past year shows it to have been nearly self-sustaining.

A new ward for thirty women patients has been built with the remainder of the bequest of JOSEPH FISHER, a special donation for this branch of your Hospital.

The municipal improvements have caused us to instruct the Solicitor to take measures to induce the Court of Quarter Sessions to vacate the confirmation of so much of the proposed city plan as requires the widening of Market Street by the removal of the boundary wall, and taking possession of a part of the Hospital property for the reason that, by a legislative contract confirmed under the laws, for which value was given by the dedication of wide streets east and west of the grounds, all other property of the corporation was exempted from being appropriated for streets.

The paving of streets east and west of the Hospital will require a large outlay of money; this improvement is much needed, and should be commenced as soon as the weather permits it to be well done.

We desire particularly to fix the attention of the Contributors and the Public upon the design that the Hospital should strictly be a place of treatment, with the hope and prospect of cure.

This has an especial application to the endowment and use of free beds, which were to be filled with such persons as the Managers selected, which must be recent and supposed curable cases; this rule, prescribed by the Contributors, makes the establishment of a free bed by the charitable act of a donor—one of unlimited value—and the relief so extended would be misused, were the Hospital required to be but the permanent residence of an incurable free patient.

A free bed may, upon an average, cure two persons in every year; devoted to an incurable, its usefulness is destroyed for the term of a life.

The modern system of treating insanity is to consider it in the main as a functional disease, with which any one may be afflicted, requiring prompt measures for relief and cure.

It has been proposed in Austria to require the civic authorities to remove curable insane patients to proper places of treatment, rendering the use of the Hospital compulsory under the laws, and disallowing the tender and anxious care and management of the private family, oftentimes accompanied by ill-judged and irritating restraint.

It is subversive of all principles of sound popular self-government to presume that civil liberty is to be obtained by unrestrained personal freedom; and to give such freedom to those suffering under temporary mental disorders, casting them upon the community, is to expose it and them to injury, thus avoiding moral duty, and shunning its responsibility.

It may be stated that the number of calamities from the freaks of insane persons recorded in the public press, during the space of a year, approach more nearly to an equality with loss of life from railroad accidents than the public are at all aware.

To relieve the mentally afflicted from restraint and incarceration, and to restore them to quiet and comparative liberty in extensive precincts, has been the great aim and means of the modern Hospital for the Insane.

Inspection by competent, intelligent men, upon whose honesty of purpose the community can rely, is the best safeguard for the correct performance of duties by those in charge of institutions for the insane, the prevention of the existence of evil, and the shortening of its duration.

In your Hospital this inspection is frequent, and never has been omitted for a single week of its history, it always having been recognized that by you and the public at large the thoroughly beneficial application of your extensive charity is and should be a matter of the greatest solicitude.

A summary of the work performed during the past year shows that 2852 patients, occupying beds, have been treated in the three departments of the Pennsylvania Hospital.

JOSHUA P. EDGE, Steward of the men's branch of the Department for the Insane, after many years of faithful labor, has resigned from his position, on account of failing health. He is well known to you as a valuable and efficient officer, whose services have merited and received the highest commendation of the Managers.

In conclusion, it is our duty to notice that, while the past year has brought with it many events which excite our gratitude, there have also been others which have involved us in the deepest distress.

The Board have recorded upon their minutes their regret, occasioned by the death of Dr. W. W. GERHARD, for twenty-five years a zealous and faithful member of the medical staff.

They have also, with you, been called upon to mourn the loss of two of their most valued associates, JOHN FARNUM, for twenty-six years a Manager, and MORDECAI L. DAWSON, twenty-eight years a Manager, and sixteen years President of the Board of Managers of the Pennsylvania Hospital. Their wise and tender care of the afflicted, their warmth of heart and generosity in every characteristic of thought, speech, and action, have been long known to you, and honored in the community.

With us it is an abiding sorrow that "we shall see their faces no more," and that lives graced by the practical exemplification of every virtue should be taken from our midst.

Signed and submitted by direction of the Board of Managers.

WILLIAM BIDDLE, President.
